

Kenneth A. Farley
Curriculum Vitae

Address

Division of Geological and Planetary Sciences
California Institute of Technology
Mail Code 170-25
Pasadena, California 91125
(626) 395-6005 (farley@gps.caltech.edu)

Education and Employment History

1986	B.S. (summa cum laude) Chemistry, Yale University
1986-1991	National Science Foundation Graduate Fellow, Scripps Institution of Oceanography, University of California, San Diego
1991	Doctor of Philosophy, Earth Sciences, Scripps Institution of Oceanography University of California, San Diego
1991	Post-Doctoral Research, Department of Geological Sciences, University of Rochester
1992-1993	Lamont Post-Doctoral Fellow, Lamont-Doherty Geological Observatory
1993-1996	Assistant Professor of Geochemistry, Division of Geological and Planetary Sciences, California Institute of Technology
1996-1998	Associate Professor of Geochemistry
1998-2003	Professor of Geochemistry
2003-	W.M. Keck Foundation Professor of Geochemistry
2003-2004	Director, Caltech Tectonics Observatory
2004-2014	Chair, Division of Geological and Planetary Sciences
2013-	Project Scientist, NASA Mars 2020 Rover Mission

Awards, Honors and Service

1996-2001	Fellow, David and Lucille Packard Foundation
1997	Houtermans Prize, European Geochemical Association
1999	Macelwane Award, American Geophysical Union
1999	Fellow, American Geophysical Union
2000	Initiatives in Research Award, National Academy of Sciences
2002-2006	Editor, Earth and Planetary Science Letters
2008	Arthur L. Day Medal, Geological Society of America
2013	Fellow, Geochemical Society
2013	Elected to National Academy of Sciences
2013	Elected to American Academy of Arts and Sciences
2015	NASA Exceptional Scientific Achievement Medal